MANAGEMENT OF BIBLIOGRAPHIC REFERENCES. REFERENCE MANAGEMENT SOFTWARE: ENDNOTE, MENDELEY, ZOTERO

Anna NAGHERNEAC,
Head of Information and Bibliographic Service

NOVEMBER, 20, 2017, BALTI, REPUBLIC OF MOLDOVA

CONTENT

- Scientific research;
- Bibliographic documentation;
- Communication of information;
- Ethics of information use;
- Methods of avoiding plagiarism, copyright;
- Rules of making of the bibliographic references for scientific papers;
- Styles / citation methods;
- Reference library management software tools (EndNote, Mendeley, Zotero).

KEYWORDS

- Information, search of information, information resources;
- scientific research, bibliographic documentation, scientific work;
- information ethics, plagiarism;
- bibliographic references, sources of information, citation, citation styles;
- Importing a citation style;
- Behaviour of citation style, correctness of citations;
- Personal management software for bibliographic references.

RESEARCH

The information activity of a researcher provides, first of all, the knowledge of the literature published by other researchers in one or the other domain, in order to use them (their source of inspiration) for the subsequent research / discovery.

Research - a systematic process of collecting and analyzing information (results) to improve our understanding of an aspect. The researcher is the recipient of an information system that contains and keeps information stored, which he organizes and processes so that he can find them when they are needed.

A basic condition of research and documentation in the field is deep knowledge of scientific language, methods and methodology of research, knowledge of the logic of domain development, critical analysis of achievements in the field.

- The information should be rationally and efficiently accessed
- The information should be critically and competently assessed
- The information should be used correctly and creatively

Stages of research

- General information on the research topic,
- identifying sources,
- access to them,
- collecting bibliographic materials,
- annotation and ordering.

The bibliographic research method means the activity of selecting sources of information, using bibliographic tools: electronic and traditional catalogs, bibliographies, databases, websites, etc.

THE RESEARCHER - THE BENEFICIARY OF INFORMATION SYSTEM

The contemporary scholar researcher benefits from a varied system of bibliographic tools provided by the USARB Scientific Library:

- ❑ SLUSARB electronic catalog,
- ❑ accessible from the library as well as remotely from the Library website, which is integrated into LibUniv Catalog where the search for information is promptly provided in 7 catalogs of libraries of universities in the Republic of Moldova;
- ❑ ORA USARB (Digital Institutional Archive ) <http://dspace.usarb.md:8080/jspui/> full-texts of the works of academics and university librarians: lectures, exercises, curriculums;
- ❑ Scientific journals elaborated by the Balti universities available on-line;
- ❑ Recent acquisitions catalog <http://libruniv.usarb.md>, starting with 2006
- ❑ On-line exhibitions: New / thematic acquisitions
- ❑ EIFL-OA Moldova Blog <http://oarm.blog2x2.net/> which facilitates open access to information and scientific electronic resources (journals, PhD thesis) in Moldova.
- ❑ Electronic reference services
- ❑ "Ask a Librarian" - a library service for remote users accesse through the web page (<http://libruniv.usarb.md>).

DOCUMENTATION

Scientific research can not be done by passing the documentation phase

Documentation is a necessary stage of scientific research and aims knowledge of scientific experience in the area under investigation in affiliated fields and other areas of knowledge of reality

Documenting is a multilateral process that outlines the means to disseminate documents.

- ❑ Familiarize with the subject of future research
- ❑ Thematic domain delimitation
- ❑ Chronological period
- ❑ Geographic space
- ❑ The language in which the documents are written
- ❑ Type of information resources (on any support) expected for research (official publications, manuscripts, monographs, series publications, reference works, printed music documents, graphic documents, patents, patents, electronic collections: databases, periodicals electronic, digital documents, computer files, websites ...)

BIBLIOGRAPHIC DOCUMENTATION

The bibliographic documentation implies:

- Specification clear subject (topic) for which it is the information sought;
- Identifying the types of publications that contain the necessary information
- The choice of the most efficient method of research of information sources, which can be direct(publications, various types of documents which directly informs the following), and indirect( library catalogs, and publishers, bibliographies);
- Keeping accurate records and completing the documents used in a "dossier" of the research topic.

THE ETHICS OF USING INFORMATION. PLAGIARISM

Within research is required to take into account a number of ethical aspects:

The work must fully reflect the work of the author!

Citation text (the bibliographic reference) must respect the structure of the source and author / author's orthograph, will not add or invent names or sources !

According to Dictionary of Romanian Language:

„ETHICS – Moral principles that govern a person's behaviour or the conducting of an activity.”

„PLAGIARISM – an act or instance of using or closely imitating the language and thoughts of another author without authorization and the representation of that author's work as one's own, as by not crediting the original author”.

„PLAGIARIZE – to commit literary theft : present as new and original an idea or product derived from an existing source”.

EXAMPLES OF PLAGIARISM

- ✚ Absence of quotation marks when picking up a syntax.
- ✚ Copying information from any source, including the Internet.
- ✚ Using works for which credit has already been obtained.
- ✚ Copying a picture or photo from the Internet without proper recognition.
- ✚ Not using appropriate end-notes or other citation methods.
- ✓ From a legal point of view, plagiarism could also be considered as a „forgery”/, counterfeiting ” in some cases (where copyright law applies) and thus be sanctioned by a judge in court.
- ✓ The RM legislation protects the rights of the authors, including scientific works.

NATIONAL LEGISLATIVE FRAMEWORK

- The Constitution of the Republic of Moldova guarantees the freedom of creation and the right of citizens to intellectual property:

Article 33. Freedom of creation.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC REFERENCES - AN IMPORTANT COMPONENT OF INFORMATION COMMUNICATION (AUTHOR RECOGNITION PRACTICE)

The bibliographic references that document the study are presented in accordance with the rules for compiling bibliographic references which are contained in library standards.

INFORMATION AND DOCUMENTATION. RULES FOR THE PRESENTATION OF BIBLIOGRAPHIC REFERENCES AND REFERENCE OF INFORMATION RESOURCES (ISO 690:2010, IDT)

Approved by the decision of the National Institute of Standardization and Metrology NO. 871-ST from 05.04.2012

What is a bibliographic reference?

A set of data describing a resource or a part of it, precise and detailed enough to allow it to locate it.

A reference may be:

- A part of a list of information resources (book, article, report, communication, doctoral thesis, master, license etc.)
- A summary or a critical analysis
- A note attached to a text or incorporated into the text represented in the footnote or at the end of the text.

WHAT IS A BIBLIOGRAPHIC REFERENCE? (RECOGNITION PRACTICE OF AUTHORS)

- The main source of information for drawing up the bibliographic reference is the document itself, and, first of all, the title page of the document. The required information can also be found on the back of the title page, the cover, the header of a microform, etc.
- The information included in a reference must be sufficient to clearly identify the quoted material.
- Bibliographic references reflect the degree of ethics and information culture of a research work
- The bibliographic references are the expression of the author's documentation regarding the researched problem
- Note: Any information not appearing in the quoted resource, but is presented by the reference maker, must be placed between brackets []

MOSTRE DE PREZENTARE A REFERINȚELOR BIBLIOGRAFICE

Elaborarea unei lucrări științifice necesită prezentarea referințelor bibliografice și a citărilor din alte opere. Orice cercetător este dator să cunoască regulile de alcătuire a referințelor bibliografice.

Există norme standardizate la nivel internațional și național privind elaborarea și prezentarea referințelor bibliografice și a citărilor din alte opere pentru diferite tipuri de documente.

Standardul SM ISO 690:2012 Informare și documentare. Reguli pentru prezentarea referințelor bibliografice și citarea resurselor de informare (ISO 690:2010, IDT) (aprobate prin hotărârea Institutului Național de Standardizare și Metrologie nr. 871-ST din 05.04.2012) specifică regulile pentru alcătuirea referințelor bibliografice și a citărilor din alte opere.

La prescurtarea cuvintelor se va utiliza standardul SM ISO 4:1997 Informare și documentare. Reguli de prescurtare a cuvintelor în titluri și a titlurilor publicațiilor periodice.

Terminologia corectă și statistica din domeniul bibliotecar se poate cunoaște din SM ISO 2789:2009 Informare

- ISMN (International Standard Music Number) is attributed to printed musical publications

BIBLIOGRAPHICAL REFERENCES. THE MAIN ELEMENTS:

Contributions from monographs or series publications, published as independent documents, are reflected in the bibliographic reference according to the following SCHEME :

a) for monographs

AUTHOR (S). Title. Edition. Place of appearance: Publishing house, year of appearance. The page (optional). ISBN

- The authors are presented in the order in which they appear in the publication.
- Author names are separated by commas.
- First name of the first author is binding in reverse form

Example:

ALBULESCU, Ion. Doctrine pedagogice. București: Ed. Didactică și Pedagogică, 2007. 400 p. ISBN 978-973-30-1958-9.

b) for articles in series publications

AUTHOR (S). Title of the article. In: Title of the magazine / newspaper. Year, serial number, pages where the work is placed. ISSN.

Example:

MARTEA, Lilia. Promovarea specificului național – condiție obligatorie pentru învățătorul modern. In: Învățătorul modern. 2016, nr. 1(41), pp. 9-12. ISSN 1857-2820

In the bibliographic reference to the electronic document, the following compulsory elements are added:

- author (s) or editor (s), respectively the name of the person (s) responsible for the content of the information,
- title of the document ,
- the title of the "parent" source (online magazine, database, site, discussion forum, discussion list etc ),
- type of communication medium (CD-ROM, DVD, video conference, web),
- pages or length,
- the address where it is located (URL - Uniform Resource Locator),
- the date they were accessed.

DOI (Digital Object Identifier) (DOI, 1997) a system for identifying a document in a digital environment. DOI is an internationally recognized standard that allows any intellectual property (articles, books, audio, video, images, software) to be placed for an indefinite period (ISO 26324, 2010)

ONLINE BIBLIOGRAPHIC REFERENCES

Citation Data

The citation date shows the date of the user's access to the on-line electronic document. In the bibliographic reference, the citation date is preceded by the word [cited....] And is indicated in square brackets after the date of publication and the update date (if any).

Example:

USE OF INFORMATION: THE ROLE OF THE CITATION PROCESS

The bibliographic data indicated in the publications determine the link of a work with other previous researches, conceptualize the scientific positions of the author and his / her affiliation to a scientific school, offer the possibility to verify the de facto veracity of the presented data.

The use of ideas, data and foreign methods or the interpretation of uncited text is considered plagiarism, one of the serious violations of scientific ethics.

„Citation, citations. A source quoted in an essay, report, or book to clarify, illustrate, or substantiate a point.

What to Cite

- exact words, even facts, from a source, enclosed in quotation marks
- somebody else's ideas and opinions, even if you restate them in your own words in a summary or paraphrase
- each sentence in a long paraphrase if it is not clear that all the sentences paraphrase the same source
- facts, theories, and statistics

What Not to Cite

- common knowledge, such as nursery rhymes and folktales handed down through the ages; information that is available from many sources, such as the dates of the Civil War and chronological events in the lives of public figures“.

(<https://www.thoughtco.com/what-is-citation-research-1689844> . Ann Raimés, Pocket Keys for Writers, 4th ed. Wadsworth, Cengage Learning, 2013)

USE OF INFORMATION: THE ROLE OF THE CITATION PROCESS

Citation is the short form of the reference inserted in the text between round brackets or added to the text as a footnote at the end of the chapter or the entire text. Citation allows you to identify the publication from which the quote or comment was quoted and the location in the source publication.

Why do I need to cite?

- Publicly recognize the work of other authors
- To allow those who are citing you to verify the sources and use them to keep them informed
- To give credibility to the information you present
- Send the researcher to other sources for a more thoroughly research of the subject

What should I cite?

- Direct cites - passages, phrases, sentences, phrases taken directly and placed between quotes
- Ideas retrieved and processed or summarized
- Statistical data
- Electronic sources, webpages, emails, discussion forums

QUERIES REQUIREMENTS!

A scientific work needs the following requirements:

- using a standard citation format unique throughout the work;
- the text of the citation/quotation respects the grammar structure of the source and the spelling of the author;
- the quote must be complete without spontaneous abbreviations of the quoted text and without distorting the author's idea. Omission of words, phrases, paragraphs in the quoting process is permitted if it does not affect the text quoted and is marked by suspension points;
- the quote sign must be next to the word to which the remark refers, and if a statement or a group of statements is quoted, the quote mark is put to the end;
- every quote must be with reference to the source ;
- quoting must not be excessive or insufficient.

Important!

- Write down all the bibliographic details of the information source when it is used;
- Otherwise, you will need extra time/ useless to return and identify bibliographic sources;
- The sources researched and presented in the paper must be of the day!

STYLES OF CITATION

Citing sources of information in a scientific work must be done in a standard format.

There are different styles of presentation of the bibliographic references used in the research, issued over time by scientific societies, editors, etc., used according to the organization / editorial house to which the manuscript is submitted.

Style refers to both the way and the format that mentions the source in the text as well as the reference list: order and format.

It is a set of rules, and these rules set out how we inform the reader of our texts in a systematic way about the sources of information we have used (a recipe for building the bibliographic device of a work).

The utility of a citation style:

- It is clear what source we are referring to;
- It is clear what kind of source (eg. book, magazine, site) we refer to;
- It is clear whether we are paraphrasing or citing.

STYLES OF CITATION

- American Psychological Association Style- Social sciences, economics, education (www.apastyle.org)
- Modern Language Association Style- Science humanities, arts, interdisciplinary studies (www.mla.org/style)
- Chicago Style- Science humanities, arts www.chicagomanualofstyle.org
- Turabian Style- Research papers, dissertations, PhD thesis (www.press.uchicago.edu/books/turabian/turabian\_citationguide.html)
- American Chemical Society Style
- American Medical Association Style
- American Sociological Association Style
- American Mathematical Society Style
- American Political Science Association Style
- American Anthropological Association Style
- American Institute of Physics Style
- Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers Style
- ISO 690 style All fields (SM ISO 690: 2012)

THE „AUTHOR-DATE" SYSTEM (HARVARD SYSTEM)

The „Harvard System” designates the styles that define the citations in the text by the „author-date” method.

Summarized references

usually in the form (author-year), pass into the text, exactly where they need it.

- It's an Author- Year style. The references in the text are as follows: (Neacșu, 2015)
- The final bibliography is alphabetically ordered .
- It is a citation style used in social sciences (eg Psychology, Sociology, Political Sciences) as well as in related fields
- APA style does not use, footnotes, latinisms (idem, ibidem, op cit).

Example: „Limbajul este principalul cod prin care sunt transmise și însușite conținuturile informaționale și programele acționale ale sistemului psihic individual...” (Buzdugan, 2008)

If the above-mentioned author published in 2008 more information resources, the differentiation between them is made by adding in small brackets (a, b, c, etc.)

Example: „Ca atare, limbajul este și un mijloc de creație, de afirmare de sine, de adaptare, de facilitare a interrelațiilor sociale...” (Buzdugan, 2008b, p. 47)

Ce este un stil de citare?

- Un stil este un set de reguli; aceste reguli stabilesc cum informăm cititorul textelor noastre, într-un mod sistematic, în privința surselor de informații pe care le-am folosit.
- Stilul de citare este o rețetă pentru a construi aparatul bibliografic al unei lucrări.
- Folosim aparatul bibliografic pentru a ne asuma, într-un text, doar ceea ce ne aparține și pentru a situa propriile idei în raport cu ideile altora.

Stilul APA – exemplul #2

- În textul referatului, trimiterea va arăta astfel:

... discuția ideii preluate din articol sau parafrazarea unui pasaj din articol. (Csibra & Gergely, 2009, pp. 149-150)

Aceasta este trimiterea la sursă; „p” se dublează când trimitem la un interval de pagini.

VANCOUVER STYLE (NUMERICAL SYSTEM)

Numbers presented in round brackets (3), square brackets [3], or in the form of exponents<sup>3</sup> inserted into the text, send to information resources in the order in which they are quoted for the first time.

Next quotes of the information resource receive the same number as the first citation. If only parts of the information resource are quoted, the page number can be indicated by the number.

Example:

- „Scientific research, on the other hand, can not be imagined today without intense, ordered, directed, open, nuanced information transfer. " (3)" [3, p. 25] or (3, p. 25), or <sup>3</sup>, p. 25

PERSONAL RESOURCE MANAGEMENT SYSTEMS: EndNote, Mendeley, Zotero

Bibliographic information management systems are used to manage references and bibliographies. They are tools specialized in collecting, storing and organizing references (articles, books, websites, PDF files, video, etc.) and in developing and editing bibliographies that accompany any research work.

PERSONAL RESOURCE MANAGEMENT SYSTEMS: EndNote, Mendeley, Zotero

These tools allow the researcher :

- ❑ Creating a personal bibliographic database by automatically importing from other bibliographic databases, catalogs, websites, or by manually introduction of bibliographic references
- ❑ Organization references and attached documents, in order to find and identify them quickly
- ❑ Exporting references in different formats and publishing them on the web
- ❑ Automatic generation of bibliographic lists according to stylistic standards.

The image shows a screenshot of the EndNote website and its mobile application. The website header includes the Thomson Reuters logo, the text 'Free EndNote Trial', and a search bar. Navigation links for 'Product Details', 'Downloads', 'Training', 'Support', and 'Buy' are visible. A large banner features a man's face and the text 'Find, use and share research with EndNote'. Below this, it states 'It's for more than bibliographies. Sync your EndNote library across your desktop, iPad and online. Work on your research from anywhere.' Two buttons are present: 'Buy EndNote' and 'Try EndNote for free'. A link to 'Ask about group pricing options' is also shown. The mobile app interface is displayed in the foreground, showing a sign-in screen and a reference list on a tablet. The reference list includes entries such as 'Papenberg, L.M., 2006. Grey general (Pithecius) with...' and 'Papenberg, L.M., 2008. The development of...'.

ZOTERO

Zotero is an easy-to-use tool that helps you collect, organize, quote and manage sources (bibliographic references, full texts, webpages, images and other objects), and allows you to share research results in a variety of ways . Producer: Roy Rosenzweig Center for History and New Media

The screenshot shows the Zotero website homepage in a browser window. The browser's address bar displays "https://www.zotero.org". The website features the Zotero logo at the top left, with navigation links for "Home", "Groups", "People", "Documentation", "Forums", and "Get Involved". A search bar is located on the right side of the navigation bar. Below the navigation bar, there is a main heading "Zotero [zoh-TAIR-oh] is a free, easy-to-use tool to help you collect, organize, cite, and share your research sources." followed by a prominent red "Download Now" button. Below this, there are icons for "Collect", "Organize", "Cite", "Sync", and "Collaborate". A section titled "Grab your research with a single click." describes Zotero as a personal research assistant that automatically senses content in the web browser. Another section titled "Store anything." explains that Zotero collects all research in a single, searchable interface. At the bottom, there are social media links for Twitter, Facebook, and the Zotero blog, along with a "Zotero News" section and a "Get Involved" section.

Abstract The focus on standardized testing in the areas of reading and mathematics in early elementary education often minimizes science and the arts in the curriculum. The science topics of health and nutrition were integrated into the reading curriculum through read aloud books. Inclusion of creativity skills through figural transformation drawings allowed students to display nutrition comprehension, modeling how these subject areas can fit into a narrowed curriculum. This repeated measures study examined the weekly

SUMMARY
Culture is assumed to play a pivotal role in organizational success and failure. In contrast to prevailing top-down perspectives, this article proposes an approach to studying culture that accounts for myriad organizational subcultures, how individuals fit into those subcultures, and the causes and consequences of shifts in culture and cultural fit. The language through which people communicate with colleagues offers a powerful lens for studying cultural dynamics and its relationship to individual, group, and organizational success. This article describes a burgeoning stream of research that uses language as a window into culture and discusses its implications for managerial practice
